Dear Friends:

I am pleased to present the 2017 Annual Report for Abilities in Motion (AIM). This report demonstrates the impact of our programs and service to the community as we carry out our mission to empower people with disabilities. During 2017, AIM provided opportunities for over 3200 individuals with disabilities and was a year of many organizational developments and accomplishments. Highlights from the year include receiving the highest accreditation from NCQA (National Committee for Quality Assurance), launching a series of sensory-friendly events for children and youth, and the expansion of Service Coordination and Nursing Home Transition services into new geographic areas.

I recently concluded my first year as Executive Director of AIM and would like to express my deep appreciation for the support of AIM’s staff and board members during this time of transition, achievement, and tremendous growth. I am proud to lead an organization that is committed to supporting people in their journey to independent living and remain thankful for a community that realizes the importance of our services.

Creating a life of choice and independence is the goal throughout all our programming. Our consumers are central to everything we do and we are grateful for having the opportunity to enhance the quality of life for so many individuals living with a disability.

On behalf of the board, staff, and the thousands of people we support each year, thank you for sharing in our mission to break barriers, create options, and promote change.

Sincerely,

Dina Sanz
Executive Director
Vision Statement

Abilities in Motion (AIM) will continue to be one of Pennsylvania’s premiere Centers for Independent Living, existing to educate, support, and promote individuals with disabilities. Our programs will remain focused on providing training and opportunities for individuals with disabilities to live independent, self-determined lives.

AIM will advocate for local, state, and national laws and programs protecting the rights of people with disabilities. We will bring awareness on disability issues through community engagement, civic committee participation, and direct education.

AIM shall continue to create innovative and sustainable solutions and set trends using multi-focused approaches towards shaping national education, employment opportunities, in-home supports, and health care that affects the lives of individuals with disabilities.

Mission Statement

To help individuals with disabilities live their lives on their own terms.

To eliminate the psychological stereotypes, physical barriers, and outdated attitudes that prevent social and civic inclusion.

To champion the laws and movements that work to ensure the rights and privileges of individuals with disabilities.

AIM promotes the Independent Living Movement to empower, educate, and advocate for individuals with disabilities.

AIM’s History

Founded in 1989, AIM provides resources that empower individuals with disabilities to eliminate damaging and stereotypical notions of disability so that they are able to strive toward realizing their full human potential.

The Rehabilitation Act states that “disability is a natural part of the human experience and in no way diminishes the right of individuals to live independently, enjoy self-determination, make choices, contribute to society, pursue meaningful careers, and enjoy full inclusion and integration in the economic, political, social, cultural, and educational mainstream of American society.” This view of disability captures AIM’s dedication to improving the lives of people with disabilities by promoting full integration into their communities and beyond.
AIM celebrated 28 years of providing services in our community

AIM provided services to 3200+ individuals with disabilities.

In 2017, the STARS (Students Transitioning to Achieve Realistic Success) program partnered with local businesses and organizations to provide students work-readiness opportunities over the summer months.

Each business offered opportunities for our youth to have real-world work experiences. The following employers partner with AIM for the STARS program:
- Freedom Auto Group
- Doubletree Hotel
- Reading Fightin’ Phils (local, minor league baseball)
- Sweet Street Desserts
- Habitat for Humanity ReStore
- Ozzy’s Fun Zone

The following organizations partner with AIM to offer social development programs:
- IM ABLE Foundation/Corps Fitness: provides weekly adaptive fitness programs for the students enabling them to achieve personal fitness goals and develop teamwork skills.
- Reading Public Library: community dance program organized by library staff introduces students to various movement styles while learning to collaborate with other dance troupes.
- Shady Hollow Assisted Riding: horse farm that provides training on equine care, facility maintenance, and riding.

Herbein + Co awarded the Herbein Hero Award to the STARS program.

Development and New Ventures

AIM continues to grow in several key areas. The number of people AIM served in 2017 totaled more than 3,000. To meet the increasing demand for our services, we have scaled our workforce accordingly and have more than 100 team members.

In 2017, AIM established an office in Allegheny County and expanded long-term living services and supports to new counties in Pennsylvania.

Youth Transition Programs experienced growth as Teens Taking Flight expanded to Schuylkill County and Pre-Employment Transition Services were offered in 10 School Districts.

In partnership with the LINK/ADRC (Aging and Disability Resource Center) the CIL launched Person-Centered Counseling training, which assists in finding a balance that helps consumers solve immediate problems, achieve longer-term goals, while fostering independence, and respecting their right to make decisions for themselves.

Commitment to Quality: NCQA Accreditation

AIM is proud to announce that it has received a three-year Case Management Accreditation for Long-Term Services and Supports from the National Committee for Quality Assurance (NCQA). This is the highest Accreditation that NCQA can confer. NCQA is a private, non-profit organization dedicated to improving health care quality. NCQA accredits and certifies a wide range of health care organizations. It also recognizes clinicians and practices in key areas of performance. NCQA is committed to providing health care quality information for consumers, purchasers, health care providers, and researchers.

Community Outreach and Events

ART SHOW: On July 26, 2017, AIM hosted an art show on the anniversary of the signing of the Americans with Disabilities Act. The event was designed to showcase extraordinary creative abilities of individuals with disabilities. Over 30 artists exhibited art with some works available for sale.

AIM presented our first annual Art Show and ADA Celebration at the Inn at Reading in July, 2017. Over 30 artists with disabilities exhibited their artwork for several hundred attendees.
Fall Downtown Improvement District Scarecrow Contest

The City of Reading’s Downtown Improvement District invited local businesses and community organizations to build a scarecrow to display along Penn Street in October. AIM staff members created and assembled a visually-impaired scarecrow. We conducted a naming contest with staff which resulted in naming the scarecrow, “Abel.”

Consumer Holiday Party

The tradition of hosting a consumer holiday party continued in 2017. Over 80 consumers attended a festive gathering in December where they could enjoy a meal, win raffle prizes, and dance with their peers.

Holiday Parade

On November 18, 2017 staff members, their families, and AIM consumers marched in the City of Reading’s Annual Holiday Parade. AIM’s float featured Kids on the Block special needs puppets, Christmas trees, and Mrs. Claus! Representatives of AIM handed out treats to spectators while spreading the message of disability pride and awareness.

Fall and Winter Sensory-Friendly Events

In 2017, AIM launched the first seasonal Sensory-Friendly Events. AIM recognizes that certain activities at holiday parties may be overwhelming for children with sensory sensitivity. In October and December, AIM held gatherings with treats and activities selected and designed to avoid the common triggers of sensory sensitivity. These free parties, for both kids with sensory sensitivities and their siblings, have no loud noises, bright or flashing lights, little to no ambient music, and other amenities to allow all kids to be included and have fun!

Berks Community Television (BCTV)

AIM produces a monthly local access television show on BCTV called “Disabilities: Issues & Updates.” The show is hosted by Terrisa Faulkner and features issues and individuals of importance and interest to regional residents with disabilities.

Community Outreach

AIM staff members participate in numerous community outreach initiatives throughout the year and throughout the state of Pennsylvania. Events include participation in human services conferences, presentations and trainings at schools and organizations, nonprofit and business networking events, and disability pride activities.

Advocacy

NCIL Conference/March on Washington
AIM staff members attended the 2017 National Council on Independent Living’s Conference and Rally in Washington D.C. On July 25, over 2,000 individuals participated in a March on Washington to advocate for disability rights. After the march and rally, AIM staff members visited with legislators to discuss key issues of importance to the Independent Living community.

Disability Employment Summit
AIM representatives attended the Disability Employment Summit on April 16, 2018, hosted by Senator Casey. At the Summit. Businesses such as SAP, Fed Ex, Starbucks, and others discussed their disability hiring programs. Resources like PA Initiative on Assistive Technology, the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation, and others discussed how they can help businesses who are interested in hiring people with disabilities. Senator Casey’s goal was to educate business owners and local government to begin hiring people with disabilities in greater numbers. Audience members were able to ask questions of the panel of employers.

Disability Budget Rally
Staff from AIM’s Center for Independent Living attended the Disability Budget Rally in Harrisburg on June 4, 2018, sponsored by The Arc, a disability rights organization. The focus of the rally was to increase the minimum wage for direct service workers in order to help reduce the systemic worker shortage. Conversation at the rally centered on avoiding cuts to Medicaid funding to direct service workers, increasing funding for early intervention programs, and increasing funding to eliminate the wait list for Office of Developmental Program waivers.

Statewide Action Group
AIM staff is participating in a newly formed Statewide Action Group (SWAG). SWAG is a collaborative of CILs working on issues identified by consumers and CIL Staff as areas of need. The group is currently working to prepare information and literature to distribute regarding voter registration and a questionnaire of key questions to ask candidates. Other topics include emergency preparedness and violence and abuse awareness and prevention for people with disabilities.
Rallies Promoting Disability Issues

Staff members also attended Philadelphia’s Disability Pride Parade and Rally and in the Affordable Care Act Rally in Washington DC.

ADA-Compliant Curb Ramps

The Consumer Action Group (CAG) successfully lobbied to increase the accessibility of City of Reading street corners by installing ADA-compliant ramps. The CAG documented dozens of formerly non-compliant street intersections and worked with City Hall to ensure that the non-compliant corners were addressed. Through the conversations with the city, the group was able to help address the lack of curb ramps on Kenhorst Blvd, and now every block on Kenhorst Blvd. has an ADA appropriate curb ramp.

Giving Back to the Community

AIM volunteers participate in the Big Cheese at Penn State Berks to benefit food pantries throughout the county.

AIM staff members are active members of the communities in which they live and work. AIM-wide charitable efforts include collecting items for disaster relief; a drive to collect winter necessities for AIM consumers; and cooking and serving dinner at the Ronald McDonald House in Lancaster.

Many employees are participants in volunteer initiatives outside of AIM, including church activities, community groups, organizations that serve older adults, homelessness coalitions, and animal rescue groups.

AIM volunteers make supper for residents of the Ronald McDonald House in Lancaster.
An AIM Success Story!

Meet Jonathan Srock

AIM works tirelessly to provide individuals with disabilities with the skills and support they need to live and work as they choose and where they choose. This is one of our recent success stories. Meet Jonathan...

The Reverend Jonathan Srock of Smithmill, PA, was in town in May to attend the annual summit of the PennDel District Council of the Assemblies of God. He was looking forward to discussing pastoral policy, voting for the organization’s leaders, and visiting with friends. Pastor Jon covers sermons for absent pastors, is a recognized theologian, and is currently brushing up on his Latin and Greek. He is an avid book lover, writes short format fiction, manages a couple of websites, and keeps his mom and dad on their toes.

That he manages all of this is impressive. That he does so from a powered wheelchair while on a ventilator is astounding. Reverend Jon developed acute transverse myelitis when he was 29, damaging his nerves and resulting in complete paralysis. After becoming paralyzed, Jon had to move to nursing facilities that could offer him the medical care that he required.

Eventually, Pastor Jon settled at the Laurel Center in Hamburg, PA, where he went to work. He became the center’s in-house pastor, conducting weekly sermons and bible study sessions. Jon said, with the exception of pastoring which requires a round-the-clock and vigorous commitment, he does not feel in any way diminished by his condition.

“I keep serving the church however I can, wherever I can,” Jon said.

The Laurel Center was a lovely place to live with caring and qualified staff but it wasn’t home. Jon wanted to go home. His family wanted him home.

“But we live in such a rural area,” Jonathan’s mother Beverly Srock explained. “We are 12 miles from the nearest hospital and the worry about what we would do if Jon needed emergency care kept us from bringing him home for a long time. AIM really helped us recognize that we could do it. We could bring Jon home.”

Beverly said that for a number of years, she and Carl, Jon’s father, would travel for hours every week to be with Jon. Moving the family closer to Jon’s facility wasn’t possible. Eventually, they got in contact with Abilities in Motion.

Nikkole Painter, a Long-Term Supports & Services Manager with AIM, was involved with the process and education necessary to bring Jon home.

“It was a lot of education and assurance,” she said, speaking of the 10 months of preparation and planning. “We were going through the issues and obstacles step-by-step. Because the
As a state-designated Center for Independent Living (CIL), the purpose of AIM is to help individuals living with a disability determine, strive toward, and achieve a lifestyle that reflects their personal life goals. Services provided by AIM include:

Center for Independent Living (CIL)

Over 400 individuals are served annually through our core Independent Living services:

- Peer Counseling: counseling, teaching, information sharing provided to consumers
- Information and Referral: connecting consumers with appropriate phone numbers and other contact information for services as requested by consumers
- Independent Living Skills: assistance and training provided for personal care, coping, financial management, social skills, and household management.
- Advocacy: helping consumers access benefits, services, and programs.

The Consumer Action Group (CAG): volunteer consumers advocate for issues that affect individuals in the disability community to campaign for better accessibility to buildings, restaurants, churches, transportation, etc. by following the guidelines of the Americans with Disabilities Act.

Employment Services: job training, and pre-employment classes for individuals with disabilities.

Ticket to Work: a free and voluntary program administered by the Social Security Administration. The program seeks to increase the financial independence and self-sufficiency of individuals who receive Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) or Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits. TTW helps adults with a disability from 18 to 64 years old who receive disability benefits return to the workforce without immediately losing those benefits.

GROW (Gaining Realistic Opportunities to Work): a four-week training program for basic employment preparation skills including: resume development, communication in the workplace, job searching/networking, interview skills, self-image/concept, affirmative action, Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA)/ assistance with accommodations, peer counseling, and benefits and work incentive counseling.

Loan Exchange Assistance Program (LEAP): An initiative that receives and loans out assistive technology equipment and other durable medical equipment to improve the lives of individuals with disabilities and to maintain their independence and accessibility to home and community.

Home Modifications: AIM staff members work with consumers to address accessibility issues in their homes.

Youth Transition Services: educational advocacy, independent living skills, pre-employment training.

STARS (Students Transitioning to Achieve Realistic Success): a free program that gives students with disabilities, ages 16-21, the opportunity to expand their social networks and obtain job readiness skills throughout the summertime.

Teens Taking Flight: A weekly youth group that offers social opportunities, workplace experience, and recreational outlets for teenagers and young adults with disabilities.

Abilities in Motion Services

Service Coordination - Over 2,000 individuals served annually throughout 37 counties in PA through case management services to people with disabilities, connecting individuals to the resources they need.

Nursing Home Transition - Over 300 individuals served annually through coordination of support and resources for individuals who want to move from a nursing facility to a home in their community.

Agency with Choice - Over 400 individuals are served annually by Agency with Choice through assisting individuals with intellectual disabilities who choose to live in a home-based setting by helping with the management and payment of the individual/family’s chosen support worker/s. Services include: habilitation, companion, respite, homemaker/chore, and supported employment. This program employs over 700 direct care service professionals.

Options Program - Options is a program of Home and Community-Based Services funded primarily through the Aging Block Grant (ABG). The services in this program are provided to eligible consumers 60 years old and over to assist them in maintaining independence in the community with the highest level of functioning and to delay the need for more costly care/services. AIM is a Pennsylvania Fiscal/Employer Agent for the Options Program, which means that we can offer employer and payroll-related services to consumers who hire their own attendants.
“I’ve been in Teens Taking Flight for about six years. What I like best about TTF is that there isn’t anyone judging me. Everyone there knows what it’s like to be different. I like being able to hang out.”

An AIM Success Story!

Meet Diane Cleres

There is no hesitation in Diane’s fingers as they play the chord on the old, and well loved, electric organ in the corner of the living room. The familiar notes of “Amazing Grace” fill the house and a smile lights Diane’s face.

Diane Cleres, AIM Agency with Choice consumer and amateur keyboardist, declares that “Amazing Grace” is one of her favorite songs to play. She continues, listing several of her other favorite activities.

“I like to do ceramics and paint and color,” Diane said beaming.

Judith Alvarez is Diane’s organ teacher and one of her 14 support service professionals. This team of individuals, calling themselves “Team Diane,” spans an age range from in their 20’s to their 70’s. Someone is with Diane in shifts around the clock to help promote the goals of Team Diane, including Diane’s health, safety, welfare, and happiness. Every one of them is committed to supporting and encouraging Diane’s independence.

“We are Team Diane!” Judith proudly exclaims. “We are part of her family.”

Diane has some physical and intellectual developmental disabilities and she maintains her independence through the Agency with Choice (AWC) program. AWC is a person-centered, home health care service that helps people with intellectual developmental disabilities and their families and advocates. The service helps families hire, schedule, plan, and maintain Support Service Professionals under the umbrella of the Individual Support Plan.

Diane’s sister, Sharon Hogan, oversees Diane’s medical care and home living, and Sharon’s husband, Jim, is the managing employer for Diane’s services. Agency with Choice supports the managing employer, providing payroll, training, paperwork, and other administrative support.

“When we first started looking into person-centric care after our father passed away, we were pretty much overwhelmed,” Sharon said. “We had no idea if we were going to be able to make at-home based care work for Diane, since we do not live in the area. Diane so desperately wanted to stay in the family home and we knew this choice was important to her.” They approached AIM Agency with Choice for help.

“We are learning to run a business, basically, with AIM’s help” Jim said, adding that AIM was able to help them set up and maintain a team of caregivers who are committed to Diane and want her to succeed and thrive.

“What we have developed is basically an informal group home of just one, with the caregivers as the other members of the home,” Sharon said. She continued saying that the caregivers often include Diane in

In Remembrance of Terry Graul

Terry Graul served as President of the Board of Directors until his passing in 2017. His devotion to the disability community was endless. Terry’s commitment to the independent living movement was steadfast and forefront in his affiliation with AIM. He believed that individuals with disabilities could live fully, on their own terms, and according to their own aspirations.

Terry’s widow, Suzanne Graul, made several in-kind donations to people in need in the community, including a hospital bed, an adaptable van, and a power chair. Donations like these allow Abilities in Motion to improve the lives of those we serve. It is with unending gratitude that we remember Terry for his service and his wife, Suzanne, for assisting AIM in its mission to help others.
family lived in such a rural area, we needed to make sure they had a generator that could activate in case of an outage. Jon’s dad built an addition onto their home and needed advice on specs for disability-friendly spaces. We had to get staff and make sure they were trained. We had to train the family. Bringing Jon home was an enormous undertaking but it was worth all that and more,” Nikkole said.

Nikkole added that the most important aspect of all was to ensure that the family knew that they could go as fast or as slow as they needed. She said that discharge day was the goal but if the family felt something wasn’t working, they could reschedule discharge day until they were satisfied.

“There was no point where they didn’t have support from Abilities in Motion,” Nikkole said.

Since then, Jon has lived and worked with his family at their home. He continues to write, web design, and maintain his relationships in the clergy. Beverly said that AIM helped the family live their lives independently and on their own terms. She added that bringing Jon home has been an immense improvement to their lives.

And after all, that’s what Abilities in Motion is all about.
